Wallace Plans To Fight Alabama U Integration

Birmingham, Ala. — Court-ordered desegregation of the University of Alabama rammed into a state sovereignty roadblock erected Tuesday by Gov. George Wallace within hours after a federal judge refused to delay enrollment of two Negroes.

"I will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll," Wallace said at a Montgomery news conference.

"This is legal resistance and legal defiance."

Wallace said he was invoking state sovereignty to defy federal authority in a move that set up the long-expected showdown between him and President Kennedy who only Tuesday was reported to be aware of the governor's plans.

Can't Stall

The governor's declaration followed by about 3 hours a ruling in Birmingham by U.S. District Judge H. Hobart Grooms that desegregation could not be stalled because of racial unrest in this Deep South state.

Grooms had opened the way for enrollment June 10 of Vivian J. Malone, 20, of Mobile, at the main campus in Tuscaloosa, and of Dave M. McGlathery, 27, of Huntsville, at the Huntsville center.

Shortly before the hearing, the university trustees agreed to admit the Negro applicants to avert contempt proceedings. One of the trustees, Brewer Dixon of Talladega, said after Wallace's move that he admired the governor and sympathized with him.

Exhausted

"But we have exhausted our legal means," Dixon said.

"The trustees have no control over Wallace. The university is our responsibility. But beyond that we are not law enforcement officers."

The new crisis arose amid these other developments:

Negro attorneys filed suit in U.S. district court seeking to rescind a Birmingham school board order expelling or suspending 1,081 Negro pupils who participated in desegregation demonstrations. Judge C. W. Allgood set a hearing on the petition for 11 a.m. Wednesday. Meanwhile, a threatened school boycott by Negroes failed to materialize as the Negro community apparently bowed to a request by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to let courts settle the issue.

Martyr

A source close to President Kennedy said the chief executive knew Wallace intended to hold himself out as a martyr to southern segregationists by a dramatic stand against university integration.

City councilmen of Greensboro, N.C., moved to check snowballing racial troubles as Negroes called for a store boycott. More than 1,000 Negroes are in jail for demonstrations.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-

ch., said in Washington that federal funds should be withheld from programs marked by racial discrimination. He is chief sponsor of a bill to lengthen the life of the federal Civil Rights Commission and broaden its authority.

In a student poll at the University of Alabama, the general feeling was that integration was inevitable and would be peaceful.

In denying the delay petition, Grooms referred to Wallace:

"I take judicial notice of the condition that exists in this state," the judge said.

"But the governor has said he will maintain order. I think that granting of the motion (to delay) would be tantamount to saying law and order has broken down."

Trustees of the state institution had warned that enrollment of Negroes under existing conditions might touch off violence. Rioting followed original desegregation in 1956 before the first and only Negro student, Autherine Lucy, was expelled for making unprovoked charges against university officials.

Cooper Receives Plaudits, Brings Prayer From Sky

Washington (AP) — Gordon Cooper, America's 22-orbit hero, rode through a deafening din of adulation Tuesday and then—amid a hush—read to Congress a prayer he brought down from the sky.

It was a simple thank you to the Almighty for "all these startling wonderful things" out there in space—and Cooper composed it himself as he whirled through the night over the Indian Ocean on the 17th orbit of his perilous voyage. He prayed that God help all Americans to help each other, so that the grand space endeavors will succeed and show the world that democracy still is able "to do things in a big way."

Important

Cooper is not a regular church-goer, but he considers religion important "in all the

"Be with our families," he prayed. "Give them guidance and encouragement and let them know that everything will be OK."

Legislators, Supreme Court Justices and diplomats bowed their heads as Cooper read the prayer at a joint meeting of Senate and House gathered in his honor.

In the presidential gallery, Mrs. Hattie Cooper, the astronaut's mother, covered her eyes with a hand, then brushed away tears, and smiled.

Yay, Gordo!

Massed 12 deep under American flags and bunting, peering out of windows, looking on from rooftops, they set things we do," as he put it up a great shout of "yay, Gordo!"

As the 30-year-old Air Force major's quiet speech and prayer—totalling in all only 8 minutes—was a contrast to the long, tremendous ovation he received from 250,000 people as he rode up Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House, where President Kennedy pinned a medal on his lapel.

"You have given the country a great day and a great gift," the President told Cooper—and the throngs hurriedly to grasp his waving hand.

Unexcited

About the only unexcited people were those too young to understand—including baby John Kennedy, 2½-year-old son of the President. As Cooper left the great portico of the executive mansion, Mrs. Kennedy stood in the background on the porch holding John in her arms. He was clad in a red jumper.

Suddenly the President's wife carried John out to the car, so he could say hello to the hero. John sucked his thumb and shyly turned his head the other way. Cooper's jut-jaw dropped a bit and he broke into a broad grin.

As Mrs. Kennedy carried her son back up the White House stairs the little boy told his mother "I said good by to Maj. Cooper."

"Yes you did," Mrs. Kennedy told him.

Kissed Up

On the boy's cheek was a small smudge of lipstick where his mother had kissed him when she picked him up.

In the lead car of the motorcade, a bubble-top presidential convertible with an elevator seat, Cooper sat on the right, waving both hands to the crowds. On the left sat Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., chairman of the Senate-House Space Committee. And on Anderson's left sat Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Three cars back, behind secret service and press cars, rode members of the Cooper family:

Cooper's wife, Trudy, wearing a gray, two-button suit with a Project Mercury pin in the lapel, and a halo hat of large pink and off-white flowers;

Daughter Camilla, 14, in pink suit and pill box hat of straw;

Daughter Janita, 13, in blue suit and a hat just like Cam's. Unbound

The applause for them was as unbound as for the astronaut. Riding in the front seat of this car was Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson, wife of the vice president.

Places of honor in the cavalcade also were given to the astronaut's mother, who was flown here from Oklahoma Monday night in the vice presidential plane, and to his aunt, Mrs. J. J. Truscott. They seemed a bit overwhelmed by all the commotion.

All in all it was a great day in the Capital, where school children were let out of class and government workers got time off to join the huzzahing multitudes.

Turks Under Martial Law

Istanbul, Turkey (UPI) — Premier Ismet Inonu's government Tuesday crushed a revolt led by a former army colonel, Talat Aydemir, and imposed martial law on the 3 most populous provinces of Turkey — Ankara, Istanbul and Izmir.

Loyal troops put down the uprising in less than 12 hours.

The fighting centered in Ankara. The rebel cause was supported by cadets at the war college, Turkey's West Point. Seven persons were reported killed and 23 wounded, most of them in a clash between troops and cadets.

Radio Ankara announced Aydemir and 10 other top insurgent leaders were arrested. They are expected to be tried shortly.

The revolt was Aydemir's second unsuccessful bid for power in less than 16 months. He led a group of 8 colonels in an abortive uprising Feb. 2, 1962. They complained Inonu's regime had failed to progress in land, tax and educational reforms.

These flareups were part of the unrest that has cropped up frequently in Turkey since the military overthrew premier Adnan Menderes in May 1960.

The national security council, headed by Inonu, and the top ranking military commanders are investigating the causes and scope of the latest uprising.

Presbyterians Oppose Prayer In Public Schools

. . . ALSO AGAINST SUNDAY CLOSING LAWS, TAX PRIVILEGES

Des Moines, Iowa (UPI) — The United Presbyterian Church's highest governing body went on record Tuesday against prayer in public schools, Sunday closing laws and tax privileges for churches and clergymen.

By voice vote, delegates to the 175th general assembly, adopted a controversial report putting the 3.2 million member church in opposition to many fundamentals which church groups normally believe in and fight for.

The Presbyterians overrode strong opposition within their ranks to a section of the report on church-state relations that put the big Protestant church on record against prayer and Bible reading as devotional acts in public schools.

Deep Rooted

Opponents of the no-prayers-in-public-schools stand argued that praying and Bible reading in the schools are "deep-rooted in the tradition of our nation." A supporter of the proposal urged Presbyterians not to "cram their religion down their neighbor's throat."

The section on prayers and scripture reading in classrooms was the only one that brought smouldering opposition to the surface in brief debate.

The voice vote on it was so close that a standing vote was called. The vote showed 527 of the 840 commissioners (delegates) favored adoption of the section. No count on the "no" vote was made.

Not New Set

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, unanimously renominated earlier Tuesday for the position of stated clerk (chief executive officer), spoke in favor of the report but said the assembly was not adopting "a new set of Ten Commandments."

"These are to be guidelines to hear the word of God and answer it in prayer," the Rev. Kendall said, "but we can find another time and place to do it."

Symbols

The Rev. Russell Stroup, Washington, D.C., was one of many who did not want the church to oppose devotionals in public schools. He said they were "powerful symbols of the heritage of our nation and can and must be preserved."

The report was amended to make clear that the church considers prayer and Bible reading "completely appropriate" in academic courses but opposes them as devotional acts and opposes public school religious observances of any kind.

This provision would rule out Presbyterian participation in baccalaureate services held in connection with school commencement exercises, Dr. Smith said.

Allies Smoothing Differences

Ottawa (CP) — Allied diplomats began a round of separate talks Tuesday in hopes of smoothing differences on nuclear policy before the 15-nation NATO meeting opens here Wednesday.

Indications pointed to approval of a new framework tying the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's existing nuclear striking force more closely under NATO's supreme commander in Europe.

and giving NATO's non-nuclear powers a bigger say in possible use of that force.

Considerable ground has been given in a bid to win acceptance by the French.

Among other things, plans to give the new framework a name—"interallied nuclear force"—have been dropped. French President Charles de Gaulle reportedly has been assured the move will not be trumpeted as a big new development or as implying the French have surrendered any of their opposition to taking part in a separate NATO mu-ture.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred with Canada's Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. So did French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Britain's foreign secretary, Lord Home, spoke out publicly in defense of Britain's own nuclear deterrent.

"No unilateral renunciation of our nuclear arm is going to stop the arms race," he told the Canadian Club of Ottawa.

". . . We have decided that Britain must be equipped to be present in the councils of war and peace and be there by right. And this means nuclear power."

However NATO's nuclear arm emerged, Home said, the essential is that the U.S. military power should be completely integrated into the NATO machine."

Within a couple of hundred yards of the NATO conference's seat, the Canadian parliament was debating Canada's position on NATO and nuclear weapons.

Pearson told the House of Commons that Canada will abide by its 6-year-old commitment supporting atomic weapons for NATO.

Not all of the proposals have yet been submitted by the various divisions, but State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers said the reports outstanding would be mailed to board members individually for their approval prior to the deadline.

In addition to their budget proposals, each of the public health services this year must submit a complete narrative of their proposed plans for the next two years.

Preliminary budget proposals of several divisions within the State Health Department supported by federal funds were reviewed by the State Health Board.

The board had set May 27 as the deadline for its review of the proposals which must be submitted to the U.S. Public Health Service's regional office at Kansas City and approved by that agency before June 30 for the state to get federal funds for the services.

Dr. Fry Reports:

Lutherans Also Readyng Study

On Church-State Relationship

Grand Island (N.Y.)—The Lutheran Church of America, like the United Presbyterians, is making a detailed examination of the relationship of church and state.

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry of New York City, president of the Lutheran denomination, said Tuesday a committee of 10 scholars, including representatives of two other Lutheran denominations will make its report in July, 1964.

Dr. Fry said the committee is exploring the question as it relates to a society "in which there are many different religious strains with no one predominating."

The study includes many of the same issues as those considered by the Presbyterians, Dr. Fry said, "and probably with the same perspective some."

However, he declined to comment directly on the Des Moines action without studying a copy of the full statement adopted there.

Among other things, the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. went on record against Bible reading and prayers in public schools as "devotional acts."

Dr. Fry attributed the present preoccupation with the church-state relationship to the urgency "of a great array of questions." Among these, he said, is the propriety of private church colleges and universities accepting government grants, federal grants to church-operated hospitals and taxation of church property.

Group Hikes Year's Budget To $970,344

Lincoln Star Special
Grand Island—The Nebraska Synod of the Lutheran Church in America at its annual convention here Tuesday afternoon adopted a budget of $970,344 for the coming year.

Included in this budget is $57,683 for the Lutheran Church in America to finance its national and international work.

The new figure is an increase over the old budget figure of $908,771.

The overall budget includes more than $216,000 for support of education and social work purposes in the state. This included support for.

$125,750 for Midland Lutheran College at Fremont.

$39,100 for Central Lutheran Theological Seminary, Fremont.

$18,000 for Tabitha Home, Lincoln.

$15,000 for the Nebraska Lutheran Social Service.

$11,250 for Immanuel Deaconess Institute, Omaha.

$7,800 for Lutheran Student Foundation work, University of Nebraska.

Elected to new terms on the executive board of the Nebraska Synod L.C.A. were the Rev. Clarence P. Hall of Holdrege, the Rev. John N. Slice of Columbus, Milton Larson of Wausa, Elmer Sass of Fremont, Earl Willet of Omaha, the Rev. H. G. Knaub of Lincoln.

Elected to the board of Central Lutheran Theological Seminary at Fremont were the Rev. Lawrence H. Beck of Omaha and Marius Christensen of Sidney.

Elected to the executive board of Midland Lutheran College were Donald P. Anderson, Omaha, the Rev. Lester H. Leshner of Lincoln, J. Arthur Nelson of Omaha, and Clinton Von Seggern of Scriber.

Cultivation Of Corn Begins; 68% Planted

... Wheat Heading

Corn planting in Nebraska is running ahead of normal and some of the crop already is being cultivated, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

By last weekend approximately 68% of the intended corn acreage had been planted, and nearly 20% of the sorghum had been planted according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Rains last week, although they interrupted field work, were beneficial to all crops, the report noted.

Wheat responded to the new moisture in the eastern 3rd of the state and is progressing toward maturity.

Virtually all wheat is heading in the southern and eastern parts of the state, the observers said. Elsewhere wheat is in or near the boot stage.

Early Harvest Seen

"All indications point to an earlier than usual harvest, provided normal weather conditions prevail," the report said.

Other observations:

Hail last week severely damaged wheat in local areas of eastern Nebraska.

Oats have not made the usual growth that normally attends early seeding. Stands are somewhat thin and becoming weedy.

Barley and rye are heading in many parts of the state.

Thinning of sugar beets is well under way.

Fields are being prepared for planting dry edible beans and potatoes in the Panhandle area.

Pasture feed is abundant in the eastern 3rd of the state, and supplying adequate grazing for livestock.

Moisture received throughout Nebraska during the past week included:

Grand Island	2.29	Norfolk	.30
Lincoln	1.68	Omaha	.71
North Platte	1.37	Central
Chadron	.76	Valentine	1.16
Imperial	.54	West
		Scottsbluff	.75
		Sidney	.52

Precipitation by sections since the beginning of the growing season, April 1, as compared to longtime averages follows:

Nebraska City (N.Y.)—Samuel L. Metcalf, 40, superintendent of schools at Valentine, has signed a 3-year contract as Nebraska City superintendent beginning July 1. Metcalf is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan in Lincoln.

Last month's statewide E and H bond sales totaled $6,024,891, a 17% increase over April 1962, Dunn said.

Total statewide sales since the first of the year total $34,567,995, an 8% increase over the same period last year.

Kearney To Host Lions '64 Meet; Name Governors

Ogallala (N.D.)—The Nebraska Lions will meet in Kearney for their 1964 state convention.

Elected district governors were J. B. Dobbins of Gering, Forrest Hosler of Broken Bow, Irwin Osterloh of Hooper, Glen Paul of McCook and Kenneth Sandrock of Falls City.

Crawford took first place in the Lions parade contest, Hemingford was second and Bushnell and Sidney tied for third.

In the state talent contest Steve Bruse of Blair won the junior division, Monica Bowie and Tony DeSantis of Omaha won the intermediate division and Bruce Buetow and James Kaspar of Omaha won the senior division.

The 1963 convention ended with a governors dinner.

George Helmann Rites Wednesday

Hastings — Funeral services for George V. Helmann, Sr., 78, longtime Hastings resident, will be at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Cecilia's Church here.

Citation Given

To John Sulek

A University of Nebraska agricultural engineer, John J. Sulek, was cited Tuesday night as recipient of the first distinguished teaching award made by Gamma Sigma Delta, honor society of agriculture.

The award was established to recognize and encourage an uncommon devotion to a common goal of developing a stronger agriculture through superior teaching.

Sulek was cited by Dean E. F. Frolik of the College of Agriculture for "outstanding devotion, untiring efforts and superb capabilities which combine to make a distinguished teacher."

"Sulek is held in high esteem by both students and faculty at this university as well as at other universities," Dean Frolik said. "His classes have been filled to capacity many times and there have been instances when more students wished to enroll than could be handled."

Two senior NU ag students were also honored. Winners of the senior awards were: Larry W. Hammer, Greenwood, "with high distinction"; and James E. Alam, Walthill, "with distinction."

Racial Question Takes Twist

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The U.S. Supreme Court has given somewhat of a new look to the racial questions that face this nation, shifting our sights from generalities to specifics, from the state to the individual. The court left no doubt in its sit-in decisions that the law, as stipulated under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, must apply equally to all citizens, regardless of race, creed or color.

This means that no government can be a party in helping any establishment or business that wants to engage in discrimination. If a restaurant wants discrimination, it cannot call upon the law for any help. What, then, does this do to the cause of desegregation?

One justice has speculated on just how much right an individual has if it is not backed up by law. Is a right that can in no way be enforced a real right or an imaginary one? And by failure to settle the individual question, where is it left as a matter of law? Actually, the court has neither strengthened nor weakened the individual's right to discriminate.

Thus, it would seem at this point that the owner of a business could discriminate if he so desired but he could use no law to help him enforce the decision. If a Negro entered his place of business, he could refuse to serve him but he could do little to keep him out of the place. The minute he tried to use a law to eject the Negro, the matter would be unconstitutional.

It would seem that the rulings in the seven new cases decided by the court place a new emphasis on the role of the individual. This, in turn, gives added emphasis to such things as fair employment practices acts and other laws relating to discrimination. These are the laws which state that an individual cannot discriminate even if he wants to, regardless of how it may or may not be enforced.

The decisions in this respect would seem to be a victory for the cause of desegregation. First of all, the right of the individual to discriminate, even if it is implied in the court's decisions, is a weak one. Without the law, the government, to assist him, the individual is pretty helpless. Where would any of us be if our law simply gave us a variety of rights but no assistance in asserting them?

For a right to be effective, it has to have the force of law behind it, it has to be backed up by the authority of the land. If we had the right, as we do, to freely assemble and petition our government but that right was constantly abridged and no one did anything about the abridgement, then that right for all practical purposes would cease to exist.

This is the sort of right, if any, the individual has left to him in matters of discrimination. It is not difficult to see that this would be of questionable value to the individual who sought to operate his business along strict discrimination lines. He could be subjected to constant test of his right and the matter would become unbearable for him. It would reduce the question of segregation down to its moral foundation which is exactly where the Supreme Court is putting it in one case after another. This is where the court placed it some 10 years ago in its first school desegregation decisions and it has never wavered since.

And as most people know in the privacy of their own thoughts, this is where the question belongs and where it ultimately will be settled in this nation and in every nation throughout the world. There are some things that are not basically matters of law, but of conscience, and segregation is one such matter.

This has been well shown in the continuing struggle that goes on in Birmingham where the cause of integration has actually been effectively served by the use of force of arms against it. It is doubted that the Negro would have helped his cause any more by anything he might have done than he was helped by the police force of Birmingham in its use of dogs and fire hoses against demonstrating Negroes.

This is because people know in their hearts that the Negro has not been given his fair place in the scheme of things and that the use of force to keep him in an inferior position is alien to everything that we stand for. There is no doubt that the Negro has at times gone further in seeking his rightful place than it might have profited him to do in the light of good common sense but there is no doubt that he is effectively destroying the bastion of law behind which the segregationists have stood for many years.

The segregationists have used the law as a shield, as a means of escaping the personal responsibility for what they have done in such matters as these. But the Supreme Court is taking this tool away from them and exposing them to the hard test of human justice and equality. How long segregation can stand in the light of this test is questionable but it will not be for long.

The decisions in this respect would seem to be a victory for the cause of desegregation. First of all, the right of the individual to discriminate, even if it is implied in the court's decisions, is a weak one. Without the law, the government, to assist him, the individual is pretty helpless. Where would any of us be if our law simply gave us a variety of rights but no assistance in asserting them?

For a right to be effective, it has to have the force of law behind it, it has to be backed up by the authority of the land. If we had the right, as we do, to freely assemble and petition our government but that right was constantly abridged and no

Needed Pump Priming

President Kennedy, in a recent press conference, made it clear that his administration does not intend to be fettered by the limitations recommended by the Clay report on foreign aid.

Specifically the President expressed favor for $500 million aid to India which is proposing to build a $1.5 billion integrated steel mill at Bokara.

The Clay report took issue with this project mainly on the ground that it would put the Indian government into a business which, in the American view, should be handled by private enterprise.

Topically one can agree with the Clay report. It is as proper for the U.S. government to bless private enterprise abroad as it is to bless the American free and democratic way of life because both exist and interact here and one wouldn't be what it is without the other.

But that does not tell the whole story in treating with nations striving to progress. India needs basic industry but private enterprise there is not yet up to the job of providing the cash and the know-how to meet the national necessity, either in time or magnitude. In that respect it is not wrong for the U.S. to become the banker and the Indian government to take responsibility for bringing into being what must be in order to preserve India's quest for a productive economy. India has not denounced free enterprise and certainly the great outflow of products from the steel complex can provide the fuel for a great deal more private enterprise than now exists there. Pump priming where it is feasible is not wrong.

Lester Pearson and JFK made a lot of progress in their Iyanis Port talks in restoring better American-Canadian relations, but it wasn't all beer and skittles, as they would say in London. Lester was notably skeptical about the nuclear-headed Bomarc missiles which his predecessor, John Diefenbaker, had scorned.

Kennedy assured the new prime minister that, although the Bomarc cannot knock down an intercontinental ballistic missile, it can destroy supersonic planes, and he explained further that Russia doesn't have enough ICBMs to launch a successful mass attack.

Therefore, argued Kennedy, the United States and Canada must still rely on Bomarc.

The United States is not giving up its eight squadrons of Bomarc missiles and he urged Canada not to give up its six squadrons but rather arm them with nuclear warheads.

Pearson agreed to live up to previous Canadian commitments.

When President Kennedy goes to Germany next month he will rate higher in popularity than any other world leader and probably higher than any German leader.

The International Social Studies Institute of Germany has just completed a poll somewhat similar to the Gallup Poll which puts Kennedy 70 to 7 ahead of Khrushchev in popularity. In answer to the question, "If you had your choice of world statesmen, whom would you invite to Germany?" JFK rated 70, Khrushchev 7, Nehru 5, De Gaulle 5, Prime Minister Macmillan 1, with 12 voting "don't care."

The Social Studies Institute then took another poll as to who should not be invited to Germany. Khrushchev led with 52, Nehru with 16, De Gaulle 7, Macmillan 7, and Kennedy only 2.

Danger Of Delay

Doubtless Senator Klaver's proposal for another two years' study of educational television stems from an earnest desire to reduce the possible occurrence of error in a field that is new and strange to him. But his action evoked a feeling approaching dismay among the many Nebraskans who are hopeful both for affirmative and prompt action on what they consider would be one of the finest services the Legislature could provide.

Two bills providing for ETV but differing in method and financing have survived early pruning and are on general file awaiting floor debate. Another study at this stage would at the minimum wash away all the progress, nullify the considerable amount of study already accumulated, and convert days and hours of legislative deliberation into a serious time loss.

City Salary Changes

It can now be said without any fear of contradiction that the City Council will face a serious question on salaries of city employees at the budget-making sessions later this summer. This will come as a result of increasing the salary in the top sub-professional engineering grade of the city from $605 to $725 per month.

WASHINGTON—For many years after the Bolsheviks seized power in Russia a small but flourishing prognosticating industry existed. At regular intervals from such centers as Riga in Latvia the imminent downfall of the usurpers was forecast.

Hunger was widespread in the worst period, requiring massive purchases of wheat from Australia and Canada.

The weakest point today is

Laotian Foes Waging Fierce Artillery Duel

Vientiane, Laos (AP) — Neutralist forces fought a fierce artillery duel with pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops on the Plaine des Jarres Tuesday, informed sources reported.

These reports came on the heels of an announcement by Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma that violent fighting had erupted two days ago when Pathet Lao convoys moved reinforcements to the strategic area 110 miles north of Vientiane.

In the new outbreak, the fighting was so intense that one cannon round fell every minute for 85 minutes, the sources said.

There were no reports of casualties.

Souvanna's announcement said an artillery clash broke out Sunday in the Lat Bouac region, 10 miles northeast of the plain.

He said the pro-Communist Pathet Lao bombarded several neutralist positions with 105mm cannon.

The premier added that two battalions of reinforcements for the Pathet Lao arrived at the town of Xiang Khouang Sunday.

Radio Peking relayed a Pathet Lao charge Tuesday that neutralists under Gen. Gong Le and Gen. Phoumi Nossavon's rightists bombarded that town Sunday, but were repulsed.

The broadcast added that the reactionaries were now bombarding Lat Houang, Phong Savan and Khang Khay.

Khang Khay is headquarters of the Pathet Lao and its chief, Prince Souphanouvong, pro-Communist deputy premier in Laos' coalition government.

'Outdoor' Show Tape Bids Nixed

Award of a Game Commission contract to a firm other than the low bidder drew complaints Tuesday from 3 losing bidders.

Involved was a contract for taping the radio show, "Outdoor Nebraska."

All bids received were rejected by State Purchasing Agent Willard Wells, and a one-year contract was awarded by negotiation to Lincoln radio station KFOR, the highest bidder.

Game Commission Director Mel Steen said it boiled down to a matter of obtaining the best service and facilities possible to produce the best program.

Bids initially received included Williams Recording, $1.42 per tape; Swanson, Sinke and Ellis, $2.06; station KLIN, $3, and KFOR, $3.38. All are Lincoln firms.

KLIN Manager Jack C. Calaway said the state could have saved $361, and "it

Tour To Feature 'Historical Miles, Beauty Of Spring'

Gov. Frank Morrison announced plans for the third annual Governor's Motorcoach Tour designed to take participants along "500 miles of history and springtime beauty of Southeast Nebraska and the Willa Cather country."

The tour, June 7-11, will be led by Dr. Robert Manley, instructor of history at the University of Nebraska and a specialist in Nebraska history.

The itinerary includes Bellevue, Nebraska City, Brownsville, Ruvo, Beatrice, Fairbury and Red Cloud.

The 1963 tour will cost $75 per person. The fee covers all meals, rooms and transportation for 5 days.

Southeast and South-Central Nebraska "has a wealth of beauty and history," Morrison commented.

27 & Sheridan 3-Car Crash Injures Two

Two persons were injured Tuesday evening in a 3-car accident at 27th and Sheridan.

Mrs. Fannie S. Sherman, 52, of 2601 Woods Blvd., was treated at Lincoln General Hospital for contusions and bruises to her right shoulder, while Stuart Marx, 24, of 2160 So. 31st, received a minor laceration he told police he would treat at home.

Police reported Mrs. Sherman was a passenger in car driven by her husband, Charles, 33, which was going north on 27th across Sheridan when it was in collision with the Marx car going northwest on Sheridan.

The Nebraska Safety Patrol said mother and daughter were riding in a car driven by Mrs. Hull's husband, Darrell, when the car was forced off the road into an embankment by another car.

The other driver drove off and was not identified.

Pearson Wins 1st Major Test

... DEFEATS MOTION

Ottawa (CP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's minority Liberal government Tuesday night won its first major test in parliament. It defeated a motion of non-confidence in the government's nuclear policies, 124-113.

Pearson drew support from all the 118 Liberals who voted, plus 2 Conservatives—including former Defense Minister Douglas Harkness—and 4 Social Credit Party members. The defeated motion attacked the government's decision to acquire U.S. nuclear warheads for Canadian forces at home and abroad.

Aligned against the Liberals were 79 Conservatives, 16 New Democrats and 18 Social Credit Party members. Pearson's government faces another non-confidence vote in the House of Commons Thursday night.

May Survive Next

However, the defeat of the first no-confidence motion indicated the Liberals would survive the next test, also.

Abstentions and absences played a role in the vote, but the 6 votes picked up from

Trading Stamps Amendment Talk

In Unicam Halls

The possibility of Nebraska getting into the trading stamp business was being talked quietly around the Legislature.

Being circulated was a draft version of a constitutional amendment for submission to voters next year under which the state would be allowed to print and merchandise trading stamps and then offer redemptions.

Potential sponsors declined identification, but one said the measure ought to bring in about $5 million a year.

Presumably commercial firms would make contracts with the state for the stamps.

Skarda Employee List 'Surprises'

Gov. Morrison

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday said he was "surprised" to learn that Sen. William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha is persistently complaining about the number of state employees. The governor said Skarda "has been in my office asking us to employ additional people."

Last Saturday, Skarda produced a list of 17,093 state employees and called on Morrison in conjunction with the Legislature to reduce the number.

Morrison said he will have a conference with Skarda to find out "whom he thinks we can dispense with."

This photograph by Robert H. Pickel, president of the Lincoln Camera Club, took first place for black-and-white human-interest pictures at the club's 3rd annual salon. With 15 other prize-winning black-and-white pictures, it will hang on exhibit at Bennett Martin Public Library for a month.

Camera Club Gives Awards In 32nd Annual Contest

graphs in the black-and-white division will be exhibited on the second floor of Bennett Martin Public Library for a month.

Awards were given in four categories for black-and-white prints and color slides of pictures taken by members in the last 12 months.

The winners, according to category and in the order of their awards:

Nature (black-and-white) Donald K. Pickel; Donald K. Nelson (color) James Longman, W. Brockford Gordon, Robert H. Pickel, Robert H. Pickel.

Human Interest (black-and-white) Robert H. Pickel, Richard Green, W. Baker, Donald K. Nelson (color) James R. Longman, James R. Longman, Robert H. Pickel, Richard Green.

Portrait (black-and-white) Robert H. Pickel, Richard Green, W. Baker, Donald K. Nelson (color) James R. Longman, James R. Longman, Robert H. Pickel, Richard Green, John Schubert.

Editorial (black-and-white) Robert H. Pickel, Richard Green, W. Baker, W. Brockford Gordon, Donald K. Nelson, W. Brockford Gordon; (color) Anna Marie Weber, Orville E. Lewis, George H. Johnson, Richard Green.

Press (black-and-white) Vernon W. Baker, Robert H. Pickel, Donald K. Nelson, Donald K. Nelson (color) James R. Longman, Robert H. Pickel, Richard Green, John Schubert.

Potential sponsors declined identification, but one said the measure ought to bring in about $5 million a year.

Presumably commercial firms would make contracts with the state for the stamps.

Skarda Employee List 'Surprises'

Gov. Morrison

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday said he was "surprised" to learn that Sen. William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha is persistently complaining about the number of state employees. The governor said Skarda "has been in my office asking us to employ additional people."

Last Saturday, Skarda produced a list of 17,093 state employees and called on Morrison in conjunction with the Legislature to reduce the number.

Morrison said he will have a conference with Skarda to find out "whom he thinks we can dispense with."

African Pre-Summit Bold, Vague

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia (UPI)—Foreign ministers ended an African pre-summit conference Tuesday with bold proposals to fight remnants of colonial rule and a vague project for an African unity charter.

The chiefs of state of the continents' independent nations will discuss the proposals Wednesday.

Informed sources indicated that most will approve the principle of African unity but leave its details to another foreign ministers conference, to be held 6 months from now.

First Basis

The much-publicized summit is expected only to establish the first—and flimsiest—basis for the continent's eventual political unity.

Twenty of the 29 expected heads of state or government gathered in the flag-decked Ethiopian capital.

The charter proposal was worked out from an Ethiopian plan for a loosely knit African federation, headed by an assembly of the chiefs of state and collaborating in political, economic, military and cultural matters.

The foreign ministers recommended setting up a temporary secretariat to deal with details of the charter plan.

Conflicting ideas contributed to the considerable watering down of most proposals.

However, the foreign ministers called for the breakoff and boycott of Portugal, holding Angola, Mozambique and several lesser colonies, and the white-ruler government of South Africa.

Consider Corps

They asked the chiefs of state to consider forming a volunteer corps to help struggling African nationalists and set up guerrilla training bases. Several such bases already exist.

They recommended a cable to President Kennedy, calling his attention to the racial strife in the southern United States. But the tone of the recommendation was moderate and it took notice of Washington's efforts in that field.

Governor Says
$100,000 Least
Tourism Needs

Gov. Frank Morrison suggested Tuesday that if the Legislature does not appropriate at least $100,000 a year for tourism promotion, "it might as well not appropriate anything."

Anything less "will not get the job done," he said.

"Anyone connected with tourism knows this."

Morrison, in his inaugural address, suggested earmarking increases in cigarette, liquor and pair-mutual betting taxes for tourism.

The Legislature has passed such measures without the earmarking provision, and tourism funds apparently will have to come from the general fund.

The governor said he does not believe sufficient revenue would be raised from the pending LB784, St. Paul Sen. LeRoy Bahensky's bill calling for state sale of tourism promotion stamps.

Legislature Advances Lands Bill

The Legislature advanced from general file on a 30-4 vote Tuesday a measure which would permit the transfer of land from one school district to another even though the schoolhouse in the second district might be further from the property.

The measure is LB691 and would, according to its sponsor, Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, allow more flexibility in land transfers between school districts.

Now the property has to be at least $\frac{1}{2}$ mile closer to the school house in the adjoining district the landowner wants to get in.

McGinley said that the construction of roads in the Sandhills has made it more practicable in some cases to drive over a good road to a more distant school than one closer but not easily accessible.

An amendment to the bill would allow persons with a freeholders lien to transfer that land from an approved to an accredited high school district.

Bowen noted that the University of Nebraska has stated it will not admit students from schools which are not accredited without a test. He said many parents would prefer to have their children transfer to an accredited school.

Accredited schools are those which meet certain academic requirements established by the State Board of Education.

The board several years ago adopted a policy not to give accreditation to any new Class VI (high school only) district.

The land transfers would still be subject to approval by a county board and other current criteria.

Sen. Stalder Foresees 25% Property Tax Rise

By WILLIAM B. KETTER United Press International

Sen. Lloyd W. Stalder of Humboldt Tuesday predicted the state property tax would be upped 25% as a result of the forthcoming budget bill.

"I am convinced," Stalder said in an interview, "the budget bill will result in at least a 25% increase in the property tax and probably more."

The property tax, presently set at 8.43 mills, would be hiked to about 11 mills if Stalder's prediction comes true. It is set every year by the State Board of Equalization.

"It's A Shame!"

"This is a shame, but seems inevitable in light of the various bills introduced this session," Stalder said.

The Richardson County lawmaker vowed he would refuse to endorse the budget bill if the property tax amounts to more than a 3% increase.

"It was elected on a platform of holding down property taxes, and I will stand firm on that platform to the end," he said.

Stalder also forecast the Legislature would act favorably on a motion Wednesday to advance the controversial income tax bill, LB612, off general file.

A cosponsor of LB612, Stalder said he does not expect the bill to be perfect and warned "anyone who expects it to be, will be disappointed."

Smooth In Years

It will take, Stalder said, about 6 to 8 years to make the income tax proposal function smoothly in Nebraska.

"Amendments will have to be added each session to iron out difficulties, but this is the case with all new legislation," he said.

Stalder said he feels supporters of the measure have "shaped the bill up" and that it should be thoroughly debated.

Postmasters Pick Brainard's Divis

Edward Divis of Brainard was elected president of the Nebraska Branch of the National League of Postmasters at the closing session Tuesday of the 53rd annual convention in Lincoln.

He succeeds L. J. Gaughen of North Bend.

Other new officers are: Wayne Springer of Elba, first vice president; Marvin Capoun of Dwight, second vice president; Josephine Jenny of Malm, secretary-treasurer, and Mae M. Lovell of Potter, membership chairman.

Named to the executive committee were Gaughen, Paul Geiger of Utica and Delmar Vangeweghe of Firth.

ed. aside from the budget bill."

Earlier, the lawmakers decided to put off further debate on LB612 until the budget bill was presented on the floor. But the chief sponsor of LB612, Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud, said he will resume debate on the measure Wednesday morning.

Spend For Needs

Nebraska, Stalder said, should have more spending "for things we need and do not now have."

But he said farmers, ranchers and other large landowners will "not continue to underwrite state government."

"If increased spending is needed, and I believe it is in some areas, then a fair and equitable system of collecting revenue for the cost of state government should be enacted."

Omaha-Bluffs Bridge Costs Will Be Split

Nebraska and Iowa will split the financing responsibility for the planned new $6,630,000 Interstate Highway bridge between Omaha and Council Bluffs, Iowa, on a 58-42 basis, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The split is based on a finding that 58% of the bridge will be located on the Nebraska side of the state boundary line running down the Missouri River.

The two states will put up 10% of the entire cost of the continuous steel girder structure, with the federal government paying its usual 90% share for Interstate projects.

Engineer Report

The cost split was disclosed for the first time in a report by Howard, Needles, Tammen & Bergendoff, consulting engineers of Kansas City and New York City. It was compiled in association with the Omaha firm of Leo A. Daly.

The share apportioned to Nebraska is $3,857,000, or 58.17%, with Iowa getting billed for the remainder, $2,773,000.

Figured on the 10% basis, $385,700 in Nebraska state funds and $277,300 in Iowa tax dollars will be involved.

Nebraska Deputy State Engineer Gerald C. Strobel, who received a copy of the report, said the bridge will be built in accordance with the design specifications recommended by the consulting firms.

9th To Levee

The bridge project will extend from 9th St. in Omaha to just beyond the east bank levee in Council Bluffs, just north of Broadway.

The span will be located some 350 feet upstream from the Ak-Sar-Ben Bridge which now connects the two cities.

It will have 6 lanes, 3 each on separate 41-foot east and westbound roadways. There will be 28 feet between the separate roadway structures, which will be built on the same foundation.

The morning mail is delivered in my hotel room by a bellboy, brisk and resplendent as a military cadet.

Mail, itself, is becoming more and more mechanized. The brilliant, gummy stamps are giving way to the mailing machine sticker — a yellowish strip of paper with the amount and the slogan of the firm: "Always the Best!"

This is too bad. The post office recently announced it had finally produced the stickiest, best-tasting glue in the history of that honored department.

All those years I spent licking the horrid stuff. Now it tastes like raspberries. We give it to a machine. Injuries.

In Paris, France, the post office is trying something new. They play soft, background music. Blue-uniformed hostesses — (all looking like Brigitte Bardot, I imagine) guide the customers to the proper windows.

"Air mail here, Madame. Parcel post over there, M'sieu."

This is a French idea, all right. Women and song.

My own postoffice is strictly American. Automation is the word.

We are full of machines. Stuff in the envelope. Push the buttons. Pull the lever.

The machine digests this information. Air mail Return receipt requested. Having a ball. Wish you were here.

I would rather mail in France. Let Brigitte help me carry my packages to the parcel post windows. I could tell her my troubles. Explain what is in the letters.

We could walk over to a nearby cafe with outside tables and order — my imagination runs riot at times.

The postoffices of my youth were chummy affairs. And while we did not have hostesses to guide us, we had plenty of neighborly company.

The village postoffice had boxes with a glass window on each.

This was of great value to the social system. You could look in people's boxes. And while you could seldom see who the envelopes were from, you could see how much mail people were getting.

It was also a social center.

We cut up touches at the postoffice. Babies and dogs were parked outside and could cut up baby and dog touches if they liked.

The walls were nicely decorated with mug shots of criminals.

"Wanted: For Violation of Section 415 of the Federal Statutes etc."

"Approach with caution. May be armed."

It gave the postoffice a certain excitement. General delivery on one side. May be armed on the other.

Of course, all this still exists in the postoffices of the

Why Grow Old?

Don't Skip Meals
Josephine Lowman

Over and over again studies have shown that it does not pay to skip a meal when reducing. As a general rule the reducer makes up for it with overeating at the other two meals or with snacks in between meals.

Many nutritionists recommend dividing your allowable calorie intake evenly between three meals. I myself do not think that this is necessary. I believe that the three meals are essential but if you are accustomed to eating more at one meal you can still do so. For instance, if your evening meal is the one when you are hungriest and you can have only 1200 calories a day, save 600 for dinner at night and 300 for both breakfast and lunch.

MOST OFTEN NEGLECTED

Breakfast is the meal which is most often neglected. Tests have shown definitely that this is a mistake. Scientific studies have shown that you will turn out more work, be more alert, more accurate and miss late

Dear Abby

Arthur Just Not Your Brand Of Romeo

arrived the past weekend to spend two weeks as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jones.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Jones will hold open house at her home in courtesy to her daughter.

Spending two weeks in Lincoln are Mrs. John D'Arcy James (the former Nancy Lee Beldin—Tri-Delta at Nebraska) and her small son, Matthew of Forest Hills, Long Island, N.Y.

Mrs. James and her son

DEAR ABBY: You probably won't believe this is written by a 21-year-old girl, but it is. I am dating a man (let's call him Arthur) but not steady. I date others, too, but he's the only man I know who is in a position to get married. I know he is crazy about me. The problem: Every time he goes to kiss me he gets a sort of pained expression on his face and his nostrils widen, making him look like a horse. I just "break up" and go into a laughing fit which I can't control. Abby, I really care for this man, but I'm ruining it for myself. What is the matter with me?

ARTHUR'S IDIOT

DEAR IDIOT: If you "break up" at what should be a very tender and sober moment—break up with Arthur. He is definitely not for you.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor and I are good friends. Her eight-year-old daughter, whom I shall call Janie, Bridge plays with my seven-year-old daughter. If my suggestions do not meet with "Janie's" approval, she opens up a mouth with a sassiness such as I've never heard from a child. I've tried to be patient, but my own daughter has started to pick it up and it has now reached the breaking point. I've heard "Janie" speak to her mother this way without punishment or correction, but wonder if she knows the child talks to other adults in this manner. Should I forbid my daughter to play with Janie? Should I correct Janie myself? Or should I risk my friendship with my neighbor by telling her that I will not be "told off" by a child?

THE BREAKING POINT

DEAR BREAKING: Tell your neighbor in a friendly way that you will not permit her daughter to sass you. And inform her that unless Janie stops it your daughter will not be allowed to play with her.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor and I are good friends. Her eight-year-old daughter, whom I shall call Janie, Bridge

DEAR ABBY: I work at a fountain in a drug store. Also working in this drug store is an older woman who is stealing the store blind. One day I caught her in the act and called her on it and she said, "Doesn't everyone?" Should I tell the manager?

"V".

DEAR "V": Advise the manager to watch the woman and get his own evidence.

DEAR ABBY: My husband died two years ago. While introducing his sister to a friend of mine last week, out of habit I introduced her as "my sister-in-law." Afterwards she told me that since her brother's death we were no longer related, and I should not introduce her as my sister-in-law. Is she right?

DEAR STUNNED: Technically you are no longer related, but when introducing any of your deceased husband's relatives, it certainly

DEAR STUNNED: Technically you are no longer related, but when introducing any of your deceased husband's relatives, it certainly is proper to identify them as such. ("This is Hilda, my late husband's sister.")

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for twelve years to a man who absolutely refuses to try anything new when it comes to food. When we are invited out to dinner, if it isn't meat and potatoes, he won't even touch it. I have tried to interest him in molds, fish, chicken, salads, casserole dishes and desserts, but it's futile. I finally threw away my cook book. What is wrong with a man like that, and how can I cope with it?

GAVE UP

DEAR GAVE UP: His mother probably frightened him with a souffle when he was young. Just keep on feeding him meat and potatoes at home. And when he dines out, let him sit in the corner and suck his thumb.

Faculty Honored At Dinner

The members of the faculty of Everett School were honored guests on Tuesday evening when the PTA entertained at dinner at the school.

Especially honored was Harold Lantz, Everett principal, who will become the principal of the new Pound Junior High School next year.

We Hear That

Dr. Edward I. Fry, associate professor of anthropology at the University of Nebraska, will spend the next school year at the University of Hong Kong as part of his extensive research program on child growth. Mrs. Fry, an assistant professor of Home Economics at the university, will accompany him to assist with the research in the area of nutrition.

A reception will be held for Dr. and Mrs. Fry by the Twins Parent Club May 22 at 8:00 p.m. at the Havelock YWCA.

Wins Fellowship

A University of Nebraska alumna, Miss Emily L. Cloyd, is one of 114 American and foreign women scholars who will receive fellowships for advanced study and research this coming year from the American Association of University Women Educational Foundation.

Miss Cloyd, a native of Meadow Grove, Neb., currently is an English instructor at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass. A former instructor at the University of Nebraska, where she received her master's degree, she plans to use her $3,000 fellowship to study the literary career for James Burnett in Scotland and England.

The AAUW Foundation thus year is awarding grants totalling $316,500, funds derived from annual contributions of AAUW members and from the organization's Endowment Fund.

Attendants Named

Miss Judith Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max C. Walker, this morning is announcing that her marriage to Dougal Whitmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Whitmer, will take place on Sunday, June 9, at Trinity Methodist Church.

For her matron of honor, the bride-elect has chosen Mrs. Francis O. Wanek of Bonham, Tex., and her bridesmaids will be her sister, Miss Claudia Walker, and her fiance's sisters, Miss Annie Laurie Whitmer and Miss Jane Whitmer. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. Charles Schimmel, Mrs. Darrell Bauer and Mrs. Roger Bennett.

Miss Amy Whitmer, also a sister of the bridegroom-elect, will be the flower girl, and ringbearer will be Jeff Wanek of Bonham, Tex.

William Whitmer will serve his brother as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Francis O. Wanek of Bonham, Jerry Kapke, Carleton Flynn, Jr., Harlan Hall, Kenneth Littrell, Adam Smith, Jr., Douglas Carr and Norman Agena.

Included among recent courtesies honoring Miss Walker was the brunch for which Mrs. Roger Bennett and Mrs. Marion Sanders were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Sanders. Twenty-five guests were invited and during the party, a linen shower was presented to the soon-to-be bride.

Duvalier's Enemies Loose Bomb Spree

Port au Prince, Haiti (UPI) — President Francois Duvalier's political enemies let loose a series of bombings Monday night and early Tuesday. There were unconfirmed reports that at least 6 militiamen were killed and a number wounded.

The government was officially silent on the eruption of violence on the eve of Duvalier's second inauguration. A band of heavily armed security guards waving guns and clubs turned back 3 newsmen who went to the neighboring foothills to investigate the explosions.

Duvalier showed up at another demonstration in his honor Tuesday noon as preparations went ahead for ceremonies to mark a new 6-year term he arranged for himself in 1961.

The United States regards Duvalier's extension of his presidency as illegal and is understood to have suspended diplomatic contacts with the regime.

Three explosions were heard within an hour shortly after 8 p.m. Monday in various areas of Port au Prince. There were reports of more explosions and shooting in the early hours Tuesday morning.

Lion Kills Zoo Attendant In Cage

Binghamton, N.Y. (AP) — A surly male lion killed an attendant in a cage at Ross Park Zoo Tuesday, and police had to shoot the beast when it stubbornly refused to give up the man's mangled body.

The fact that the cage was locked — and could be locked only from the outside — provoked a disagreement between park officials and police over the death of Guy E. Carey, 43, father of 3.

Parks Commissioner Michael Bednar said he could not rule out the possibility that someone had locked the door behind Carey, who was on duty alone and had entered the cage to clean it.

Human Error.

Assistant Police Chief Joseph A. Sullivan, however, attributed the death to "human error" on Carey's part and said he saw no indication of any foul play. But Sullivan said anyone who might have been involved was being questioned.

Sullivan said an open pocket knife was found in the cage. He surmised that Carey may have tried to use it to defend himself from the lion.

Two lions were in the cage with Carey's body when the situation was discovered by another attendant, Ralph Lansdell, who arrived at 5:30 a.m. Lansdell said he found the gates locked, but police figured he probably closed them automatically and did not remember.

Timba, a 13-year-old male weighing nearly 500 pounds, hovered over the body, which he had partly devoured. Tina, a female considered relatively docile, was absolved of any blame by park officials.

The female quickly retreated into another section of the cage when police turned a hose on the lions. But Timba dragged the body back and forth. Finally, the police shot him in the head 12 times.

Park officials said the normal procedure in cleaning the cage was to put the lion into one section or into the enclosed outdoor compound. Doors between the sections could be locked.

County Auctions

4 J St. Buildings

Four buildings located across from the Lancaster County Courthouse were sold by the county at auction for a total of $299.

The purchasers must assume costs of moving the buildings off the premises which will be used by the county for parking.

The house at 935 J which also included a furnace went for $150.

The other 3 buildings and prices were: 915 J, $20; 605 So. 10th, $29, and 923 J, $10.

Pollution Found In 60% Of Wells Of Suburban G.I.

Sixty per cent of suburban wells at Grand Island as studied by the State Health Department's environmental health division show some evidence of pollution, according to T. A. Filipi, environment health division director.

Filipi told the State Health Board that the wells, outside the city limits of Grand Island, show presence of bacteria, nitrates and detergents.

The city of Grand Island has no authority over the suburban areas involved. Filipi noted.

"The situation is acute right now, and it is developing a pattern that should be corrected," he said.

Filipi indicated residents of the suburban areas suspect the pollution finding is linked to political efforts to annex the area.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Law Officers 'Watch Every Move' In Arrest Exercises At State Meeting

By TOM KEITH
Star Staff Writer

"I heard a siren, turned around in the seat and saw a police cruiser with flashing red light following the car I was riding in."

"The driver sitting next to me accelerated as we rounded a turn in the road, then slowed down and pulled off to the side of the road."

"The police car pulled in behind us and Officer Keith

Crump approached our car and asked the driver to produce his drivers license.

"The driver produced his license and then was asked to accompany the officer to the police cruiser."

"Officer Crump watched every move the driver made as he put his billfold back into his pocket and was ready for any attempt the driver made to run or produce a weapon."

"Officer Crump asked the driver how much he had had to drink."

"The driver (Det. Capt. Robert Sawden) replied "not too much in the last hour," and the serious portion of the training exercise terminated."

Described above was one of the officer participation exercises held in connection with the 10th Annual Nebraska Law Enforcement Institute.

FBI Direction

The officer participation exercises were under the direction of Leon W. Morris and J. Leroy Steiner, special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Omaha.

Morris and Steiner instructed officers from all branches of law enforcement in Nebraska in an important phase of police procedure, that of arrests involving the use of automobiles.

In other exercises officers demonstrated how they would stop a car for each of such offenses as being drunk, suspects in robberies, burglaries, or just routine traffic violators.

The pursuit officers chased other officers on foot as they ran from the car, and in the car itself.

Tuesday, the second day of the week-long educational seminar, Richard R. Frederick, field representative of the Northwestern University Traffic Institute, addressed the more than 200 attending members on the topic of law enforcement in traffic.

Jeptha S. Rogers, of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, of Omaha, arrived at the seminar Tuesday and spoke on criminal behavior Tuesday evening.

Officer Crump asked the driver how much he had had to drink.

"The driver (Det. Capt. Robert Sawden) replied "not too much in the last hour," and the serious portion of the training exercise terminated."

O'Kelly Says Confessions Inadmissible

Convicted murderer Dennis O'Kelly filed a brief with the clerk of the Nebraska Supreme Court Tuesday questioning the right of the Lancaster District Court to admit verbal and oral confessions by him as jury evidence.

O'Kelly actually pleaded innocent in court to the charge of second degree murder filed against him in the slaying of his teen-age girl friend, Barbara Eastman.

O'Kelly, 21, repudiated his earlier confessions at the trial. The brief contends they were obtained illegally because O'Kelly was being improperly detained when he made them. The brief also questioned whether they were made voluntarily.

Body At Lake

The body of the Eastman girl, 18, was found last Aug. 4, at Oak Lake in Lincoln. O'Kelly, in his written confession, said he drove there with Barbara early the morning of the 4th and killed her after she became hysterical when he revealed his intention to break up with her.

But, the brief said, "The evidence is clear and uncontested that defendant (O'Kelly) was with a girl, other than the deceased, and other friends until at least 3 a.m. on the night before the early morning hours of Aug. 4, 1962."

At the trial, O'Kelly testified he went home after this and got up early the next morning to go to work with his brother.

O'Kelly is now serving a life sentence in the State Penitentiary.

Stromsburg — By a "good, strong" 2-1, a housing authority issue was approved Tuesday by Stromsburg residents, City Clerk Davis Vaught reported.

Passage will permit and authorize Stromsburg officials to cooperate with and aid the housing authority in planning, undertaking, constructing and operating housing projects designed for occupancy by the elderly, and families of low income.

The proposal consisted of a 25-bed general hospital, a 48-bed skilled nursing care wing and a central service core. The county's share would not have exceeded $500,000. Hill-Burton funds would have provided 40% of the finances.

The final tally was 996 for and 1,433 against. Although 67 mail votes are still to be counted, the results could not change defeat of the issue.

4 Indicted For Jury Tampering

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—A New York Longshoremen official, a former Huntington, W.Va., police chief and two others were indicted Tuesday on charges of attempting to tamper with a James R. Hoffa trial jury.

Three indictments were returned by a special grand jury which had indicted Hoffa, president of the International Teamsters Union, and 6 others May 9 on similar charges.

late the Taft-Hartley Act ended Dec. 23 with a deadlocked jury. In declaring a mistrial, Federal District Judge William E. Miller called for an investigation into what he called attempts to influence the jury in Hoffa's favor.

The indictments stemmed from that investigation, which began in mid-January.

Added to the 7 indicted earlier were:

Henry F. Bell, vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association and president of ILA Local 1804 at New York; Herman A. Frazier, former police chief and now chief of detectives of the Huntington, W.Va., Police Department; Alfred Nelson Paden, a Huntington detective Lieutenant, and Albert P. Cole, a Huntington private detective.

Bell was accused of conspiring to offer $25,000 to one prospective juror and $30,000 to be used as part of an effort to reach two jurors.

The 3 Huntington men were charged by the grand jury with conspiring to influence jurors by posing as reporters for the Nashville Banner. They were accused of telephoning jurors and attempting to obtain information about their opinions in the case.

The indictment said they contacted at least 10 prospective jurors on Oct. 21, the day before the trial opened.

Cole also was indicted on a perjury charge. He was accused of lying when he testified to the grand jury that he had not told the FBI he came here last fall to contact prospective jurors.

In its earlier indictments, the grand jury accused Hoffa and the others with attempting to bribe two jurors and a prospective juror. The two jurors were dismissed during the trial as a result of what Judge Miller termed attempts by persons close to Hoffa to influence them.

Hoffa and the 6 men indicted along with him are free under bond pending arraignment, probably early next month, in federal court here.

Senate Ratifies Coffee Agreement

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday voted ratification of the International Coffee Agreement to stabilize coffee prices in the world market.

The vote was 69 to 20. This was 9 more than the two-thirds vote needed to ratify a treaty.

Passage came after a brief but controversial Senate discussion. The agreement also had been debated briefly Monday.

The agreement, signed by 54 nations and ratified by 28 before the U.S. approval Tuesday, is designed to eliminate the wide fluctuations in coffee trading which have marked trading since the end of World War II.

Regulates Trade

It creates a coffee council to regulate trade through a system of export controls on the producing countries.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee urged approval of the treaty and read a letter from acting Secretary of State George W. Ball in support of the pact.

Ball said the State Department agreed with a recommendation by the foreign relations group that implementing legislation which must be passed later to carry out U.S. participation be limited to two years.

Hike Not Foreseen

Fulbright said he did not foresee "any substantial increase" in coffee prices under the act but "it does insure exporting countries that prices will go no lower."

Here is a practical little game that will give you a surprise every day. It is a numerical puzzle. Instead of letters, our words consist of numbers. If the number of letters is 5 or more, subtract 4; if the number is less than 5, add 4. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left corner and read across each row and down each column, left to right. Then read the message in the letters under the numbered figures left to right. This read-off message gives you the secret.

NFL Owners To Discuss Variety Of Topics

St. Louis (P)—National football League chieftains, still smarting from April's sensational betting scandal, meet Wednesday in sweeping discussions ranging from television to whether Pottsville, Pa., was unfairly deprived of the championship 38 years ago.

It is the first NFL owners' meeting since Commissioner Pete Rozelle indefinitely suspended Paul Hornung and Alex Karras, and fined 5 Detroit players $2,000 each and the Lions $4,000 for players' betting.

On the agenda of the two-day meeting will be:

Discussion of television plans for 1964, since the two-year $9,300,000 TV package deal with the Columbia Broadcasting Co. has only a year to run;

Whether Pottsville was unfairly deprived of the 1925 championship which was awarded to the Chicago Cardinals—now of St. Louis—on grounds it played an exhibition game in the home territory of another club without permission.

And, at least among themselves, they'll talk over the betting scandals.

At least one betting investigation—that involving President Carroll Rosenbloom of the Baltimore Colts—is pending. When Commissioner Rozelle cracked down on Hornung, Karras and the Detroit club, he said completion of the Rosenbloom investigation could be expected soon.

Rozelle's report said Rosenbloom had denied allegations of betting on league games during a period 8 to 10 years ago. Rosenbloom claimed the individuals who made the charges had repudiated or withdrawn the allegations in affidavits or signed statements. Investigation had been delayed by legal proceedings involving Rosenbloom and those who made the allegations.

There also were rumors that Coach Vincent Lombardi of Green Bay would try to trade for John David Crow, the St. Louis Cardinal halfback, as a replacement for the banished Hornung. Crow also would strengthen the Packer fullback corps, weakened by the recent illness of Jim Taylor.

Cardinal President Charles Bidwill said, however, that "any intentions Lombardi may have of trading us anyone for Crow must be way out. We have no intention of trading Crow."

"If Lombardi has any other ideas about trades," Bidwill said, "we'll be happy to talk to him about it, but he'd better come see us."

Crow scored 17 touchdowns for the Cardinals last season, 3rd best in the NFL.

"I certainly would like to have Crow," Lombardi said. "There's no chance of any reviewing before 1964."

Asked what his feelings were about Hornung's being ineligible to play this year, Lombardi shrugged and said: "I know nothing about that."

Detroit Lions officials were not immediately available for comment regarding the suspensions of Hornung and Karras. It is the first NFL owners' meeting since Commissioner Pete Rozelle indefinitely sus-

Hershberger Keeps White Sox In First

. . . ORIOLES KEEP PACE

By United Press International
The Chicago White Sox kept their first-place status Tuesday night as leadoff man Mike Hershberger led them to a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators with two key singles.

Hershberger singled home the first Chicago run in the 3rd. In the sixth, his single sparked a 3-run White Sox attack. Joe Cunningham doubled, Floyd Robinson singled home Hershberger, Dave Nicholson walked and Ron Hansen's bases-loaded hit brought in two more runs. John Buzhardt, with relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm, collected his 4th win of the year against one loss. Buzhardt bowed out after the 7th when

NY Jets Retain Sauer As Personnel Director
New York (AP) — George Sauer is being retained by the New York Jets of the American Football League as director of player personnel.

Weeb Ewbank, head coach and general manager, in making the announcement Tuesday, said Sauer would direct the nationwide scouting program and serve as assistant coach during the season.

Sauer, 49, formerly served as head coach at Navy, Kansas and New Hampshire. He was an assistant on the staff of the New York team, then called the Titans, last year.

'Tax Plan Would Mean Flood Of Title Fights'

Paterson, N.J. (AP) — Abe J. Greene, commissioner of the World Boxing Association, said a flood of world championship fights could be opened up if Congress approves a tax plan now under consideration.

The plan, approved tentatively by the House Ways and Means Committee, would permit athletes, actors, authors and the like to average their income for tax purposes.

This would reduce the chances that one high-salary year would subject them to high tax brackets after years of low income.

Washington picked up a run on singles by Chuck Hinton, Larry Osborne, a walk and an infield out.

Wilhelm gave up a two-run homer in the 9th to Don Lock and a threatening single by Ken Retzer but then settled down to get the next 3 batters in order.

The Baltimore Orioles retained a share of first place when they downed the Detroit Tigers, 4-2. Joe Galanes drove in two runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly to lead the Orioles' attack. Dick Hall came in the game in relief in the 9th inning to strike out Bill Freehan and Dick McAlliffe with the tying run on.

Mickey Mantle drove in 5 runs with two homers and Roger Maris also homered as the New York Yankees topped the Kansas City Athletics, 7-4. Jim Bouton received credit for his 5th win.

Umpire Squabble Results In Fines

Los Angeles (AP) — Pitcher Roger Craig and coach Solly Hemus of the New York Mets were fined Tuesday for a run in they had with Umpire Frank Walsh last Friday at San Francisco. National League President Warren Giles fined Craig $50, Hemus $25.

The dispute involved a home run hit by San Francisco's Joe Amalfitano with the score tied 3-3 in the 11th inning.

Walsh, umpiring at 3rd base, said the ball passed the left-field foul pole in fair territory and ruled it a home run. That gave the Giants a 4-3 victory.

Craig and Hemus contended the ball was foul and continued to protest after the game.

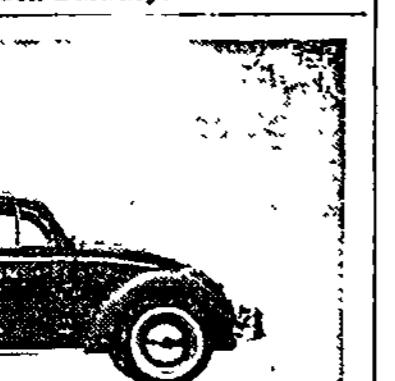

Ken Rosewall Clinches Professional Net Title

Eugene, Ore. (AP) — Ken Rosewall won the pro tennis championship by defeating Rod Laver Tuesday night 6-2, 6-2, giving Rosewall a clinching 11-4 lead in their 20-match series.

Andres Gimeno defeated Earl Buchholz 8-4 and took a 9-6 lead in their series for 3rd place.

200th College Win

When Harvard's tennis team beat Columbia this spring it marked the 200th collegiate victory for Harvard coach Jack Barnaby.

Nobody really notices Volkswagens any more. They're so well known, they sort of blend in with the scenery.

It doesn't matter what the scenery is, either. You can buy a VW in any one of 633 cities in the country. (Or in any one of 136 countries in the world.)

And that takes in lots of scenery. Deserts. Mountains. Hot places. Cold places. Volkswagens thrive.

Hot and cold just aren't important. The VW engine is air-cooled. It doesn't use any water, so it can't freeze up or boil over.

And having the engine in the back makes all the difference when it comes to mud and sand and snow.

The weight is over the power wheels and so the traction is terrific.

VWs also get along so well wherever they are because the VW people make sure that their service is as good in Toledo as it is in Tasmania.

The only reason you can't buy a VW at the North Pole is that Volkswagen won't sell you one. (No service around the corner.)

Rhubarb Seen Over Night Tills

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — A mild rhubarb is developing over the playing of night games for the Western Athletic Conference baseball champion.

Arizona, the Southern Division winner, is scheduled to meet Brigham Young University, Northern Division king, Friday and Saturday in a two-out-of-3 game set.

The winner will advance to the District 7 NCAA playoffs which lead to the 8-team College World Series in Omaha. As the home team, Arizona has carded night games Friday, and if the 3rd contest is necessary, for Saturday.

But BYU Coach Glenn Tuckett said he objects to the night games.

Fans Fail To Cash In Kentucky Derby Tickets

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Why do racing fans fail to cash winning tickets on a horse?

Churchill Downs would like to know. It has 274, worth $4,398, still outstanding on Chateaugay, winner of the Kentucky Derby on May 4.

Also uncashed are 325 tickets worth $2,465, on Never Bend, who ran second, and 193 tickets, good for $894, on the favored Candy Spots.

Missouri To Play District Series Against St. Louis

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — St. Louis University, Missouri Valley Conference baseball champion, will play Missouri, the Big 8 conference winner, for the District 5 berth in the NCAA tournament.

The national meet is at Omaha, beginning June 10.

Frank Prentup, Colorado baseball coach and District 5 chairman, said a single game will be played June 3 and a doubleheader the next day.

Baseball School Set At Rushville

Rushville — The New York Yankees will conduct their annual baseball school and tryout camp here June 25-27 for boys between the ages of 16-21.

Eddie Dancisak, upper midwest scout for the Yankees, will conduct the 3-day school. Rushville citizens provide free lodging each year for boys attending the school.

A banquet is slated for June 26 and an all-star game will conclude the 3-day affair June 27.

Grand Island Captures Relays; 5 Records Set

Grand Island (AP) — Grand Island easily captured its own relay meet Tuesday night, winning 5 of 7 relays and 3 of 5 field events.

Chet Ager Nature Center Dedicated

Mayor Dean II. Petersen (left) stands with Mrs. Chet Ager during dedication of the nature center, honoring her late husband and longtime city superintendent of parks.

Zoologist Paul A. Johnsgard, a reservoir system, storing Chet Ager, whose son, water of Itaines Branch in James Ager, is now superintendent of parks, is credited with the present beauty of Pioneers Park, especially the pine and blue spruce planted during the drought years of 1934, 1935 and 1936.

Developed Reservoirs
When these sources failed, water was hauled from several miles away. Much of Pioneers Park is the result of government-subsidized Works Progress Administration work, obtained chiefly through Mr. Ager's efforts.

His genius lay in obtaining park furnishings at little or no cost during a time when funds were scarce.

The Sunken Gardens at 27th and D and park area, formerly the Antelope Park golf course, and the grass greens at Pioneers Park municipal course were other accomplishments of Chet Ager's efficiency and imagination.

Mr. Ager guided the development of the impressive Pinewood Bowl in Pioneers, but died in 1940 before its completion and dedication.

Union Airport Annexation Goes To New City Council

Twelve city ordinances, including the annexation of the Union Airport, have been introduced before the new 7-member City Council.

The measures will come before the council for public hearing and final action at June 3 meeting.

The introduced ordinances:

—zoning code amendment adding requirements for off-street parking in "K light industrial" district near Union Airport (500 Industrial Tract) to Lincoln.
—vacating a portion of Midway Drive in Park Master East residential subdivision, vacating alley between 6th and 6th, Colfax and Seward.
—vacating a portion of Hartley and 12th for 128 feet south of Manast.
—change to B two-family dwelling zoning near 23rd and Superior, requested by Alan Farquhar.
—change to I heavy industry zoning near 23rd and Superior, requested by Northern Friends of Conservation.
—change to C multiple-dwelling zoning near 23rd and Superior.

Bill Revising Distribution Of Gas Tax Revenue Advanced

A bill having the effect of revising the amounts of gas tax revenue which cities, villages and counties will receive gained 18-11 first round approval in the State Legislature Tuesday.

Introduced by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, the measure, LB726, substitutes 1960 census figures for 1950 census figures in the formula for allocating the highway user revenue.

The bill will need to pick up some additional support, however, to make the grade on final reading, where 22 affirmative votes will be needed.

Essentially, the bill was supported by cities and villages which have gained in population between 1950 and 1960. County boards, which stand to lose some money under the bill, opposed it. LB726 does not revise the amount distributed over-all to a county, but changes the distribution within the county.

Sen. Carpenter said Grand Island is the only city sharply affected.

Whereas under the 1950 census Grand Island receives $43,086 of the $193,252 going to the county, use of the 1960 census figures would give Grand Island $77,301. Other towns in Hall County would be affected in a degree with the result that the county share would drop from $150,166 to $113,731.

In most other of the state's larger cities, the changes would be more temperate.

Figures supplied by Carpenter showed that North Platte's portion of Lincoln County's $185,163 would increase from $27,779 to $30,931.

The Hastings portion of Adams County's $172,579 would be increased from $36,379 to $38,541.

In some counties, the county portion will increase and the municipal portion will decrease.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte described LB726 as a bill he hates to have to vote upon, because his county officials oppose the measure while city officials favor it.

Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper spoke in opposition to LB726, noting that while the number of farmers keeps dropping, the cost of maintaining rural roads increases.

Here is how LB726 would affect the road money distribution to representative cities, showing total amount going to the county in parenthesis, and the change in the city's portion.

U.S. Rejects Russian Call For Nuclear-Free Mediterranean Area

Washington (AP) — The State Department rejected Tuesday night a Soviet call for an atom-free Mediterranean, saying the proposal amounts to a propaganda bid to abolish a Western deterrent against Soviet rocket attack.

State Department press officer Joseph W. Reap gave this response to a Soviet note delivered Monday which proposed that the Mediterranean area be freed of nuclear missiles.

The United States has just assigned 3 nuclear missile-carrying atomic submarines to the Mediterranean as part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense.

This Polaris missile force is slated to be part of the NATO nuclear strike structure being considered by the Atlantic pact ministers meeting in Ottawa Wednesday.

Reap's statement said: "The Soviet note on nuclear defense forces of NATO in the Mediterranean delivered to the Department of State Monday night is being studied, but it appears to be typical of the moves that the Soviet Union is in the habit of making on the eve of NATO meetings."

"Neither the Soviet Union nor any other country has anything to fear from any defensive measures of the NATO countries.

"The Soviet Union could contribute more to the cause of peace by a positive attitude in disarmament talks than by propaganda notes and threats against its peaceful neighbors, most recently for example in Marshal Malenkov's speech of February 22, 1963."

The Soviet proposal was also reported delivered to Britain and countries which border the Mediterranean.

It said Russia would agree not to put any nuclear weapons in the Mediterranean if the other powers would not. This, the Kremlin note said, would contribute to world peace.

U.S. officials earlier had called the Soviet move propaganda.
